LATEST QUARTER COMMENTARY

With the unprecedented collapse of the economic activity during Q1 2020 and little clarity as to the timing of the “shutdown”, global stock markets endured some of the fastest and most violent corrections on record.

We are of the view that this environment presents great opportunities for long-term investors who have solid fundamental research orientation. We currently come across a healthy number of businesses with large long-term upside potentials under even severe and long-lasting adverse economic conditions.

During the quarter, one of our notable detractors was Sangoma Technologies (STC). Two of our notable additions in the quarter included American Software (AMSWA) and Iteris (ITI).

For detailed commentary, please refer to our Q1 2020 Investment Report or contact our team.

LONG POSITIONS

On the Long side we invest in companies that demonstrate high quality characteristics, fall within our circle of competence and sell at a discount to intrinsic value.

On the short side we look for companies that exhibit traits of systematic under performance and which provide excellent risk management characteristics at the same time.
