LATEST COMMENTARY

We have consistently used periods of market stress as opportunities to strengthen the fund by leaning into our disciplined, research-driven process. This approach has helped us navigate highly turbulent environments in the past, and we're applying the same strategy today. In our view, short-term volatility is not a threat but a welcome opportunity. In the current panic-level selloff, we are actively purchasing high-quality, mispriced businesses. We're finding especially attractive opportunities in Canadian-listed stocks, where persistent outflows from domestic equity funds have driven prices lower—often disconnected from the underlying fundamentals. We are also seeing major dislocations among select U.S.-listed companies that have been swept up in the broader market correction. We concentrate on businesses we know very well and we welcome the market's short-term irrationality as a chance to invest in them on increasingly attractive terms.

LONG POSITIONS

On the Long side we invest in companies that demonstrate high quality characteristics, fall within our circle of competence and sell at a discount to intrinsic value.

On the Short side we look for companies that exhibit traits of systematic under performance and which provide excellent risk management characteristics at the same time.

The Trust invests its capital into the LionGuard Opportunities Fund LP. Performance data has been calculated by the Fund's administrator and is net of all fees. For the period from October 2014 to November 2016, performance reflects Class S units and has been adjusted to reflect a 10% base management fee. Benchmark data for the Scotia Canadian Hedge Fund Index and HFRI Equity Hedge Total Index represents the latest available data. Upside and downside capture ratios are calculated based on the average monthly returns of the Fund divided by the average monthly returns of the benchmark when the benchmark returns are positive (for upside) or negative (for downside).
